TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Being a PwC Croatia Human Capital Leader I had a chance to cooperate with Sanja Brkić on a couple occasions over the years in an executive search. I know Sanja for many years through professional HR associations, conferences and similar where we got to know each other. Knowing Sanja from different professional events made our cooperation even more effective.

While I was working with Sanja in search for executive positions in different Line of services Sanja demonstrated deep understanding of needs in diverse departments, professionalism, she was sticking to deadlines and I could fully rely on her in any stage of the search and hiring process. She was available for the candidate and us whenever needed which made the process progress quickly.

Sanja is extremely professional and balanced with high standards. What I value most is the trust we established, mutual understanding of how to overcome the obstacles and passion that we shared in the projects as well as very quality feedback from candidates that added to better understanding for both sides in potentially sensitive situation.

Yours faithfully,
